

Table of Contents

Articles	Page Number
1. A Conversation Analysis of Ellipsis and Substitution in Global Business English Textbooks Zia Tajeddin & Ali Rahimi	1-14
2. “It’s Practically a Must”: Neoliberal Reasons for Foreign Language Learning Johanna Ennser-Kananen, Christian Fallas Escobar, & Martha Bigelow	15-28
3. Identity Construction in Three AbaGusii Bewitchment Narratives Eucabeth Ong’au-Mong’are & Augustine Agwuele	29-43
4. A Linguistic Analysis of the Online Debate on Vaccines and Use of Fora as Information Stations and Confirmation Niche Marianna Lya Zummo	44-57
5. Politeness Principle and Ilorin Greetings in Nigeria: A Sociolinguistic Study Kaseem Olaniyi	58-67
6. Indigenous Accounts of Environmental Stewardship in Light of the Theory and Language of Maharishi Vedic Science Lee Fergusson, David Kettle, & Geoffrey Wells	68-81
7. The Representation of Social Actors in the Graduate Employability Issue: Online News and the Government Document Siti Noor Fazelah Mohd Noor	82-93
8. Funds of Knowledge: An Underrated Tool for School Literacy and Student Engagement Debalina Maitra	94-102
9. Mirror Neurons and (Inter)subjectivity: Typological Evidence from East Asian Languages Lin Zhu	103-117
Book Review
10. The Multilingual City: Vitality, Conflict, and Change, Edited by Lid King & Lorna Carson (2006), Multilingual Matters, ISBN-13 978-1-78309-477-6 Brian Seilstad	118-121